EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

Connectify is a mobile application designed to bring communities together and promote exploration and the revitalization of underused outdoor spaces. As it stands, millions of tax dollars are being wasted in maintenance of underutilized public spaces, while mental/physical health takes a downturn due to excessive screentime, indoor dwelling, and lack of physical contact. We provide services designed to promote and ease the process of going outdoors in order to resolve the budget inefficiencies involved with public amenities while allowing consumers to be able to meet one another in person much more easily and comfortably, thus aiding the problem of health and strengthening community bonds.

PROBLEMS:

- Notable Tax Inefficiency: Allocated funds are being underutilized due to more individuals opting to stay inside, especially with the rise of social media and/or more inclusive online and available online spaces.
- Mental Health: A result of this is a decline in mental health - so much media consumption oftentimes results in very unhealthy habits and the decline of mental wellness.
- Disconnection/Distraction: Being so occupied in fairly useless tasks takes so much time that might otherwise be spent in a social environment that it makes social interaction in itself much harder, and not drives people away from one another but also perpetuates a self-destructing cycle which only exacerbates the mental health problem.

SOLUTIONS:

- Spread Awareness: With our comprehensive information, notice board, and ‘Daily Gems,’ our service incentivizes people who might otherwise stay inside to go outside into more public spaces by spreading awareness and news regarding outdoor activities.
- Gamification: We offer a game-like system in which players are rewarded for exploring outside places and trying new things, creating a great drive for players to interact with the outside world.
- Personalized Experience: We offer personalized experiences on a per-consumer basis, allowing consumers to be better informed and immersed with the kind of activities and places they want to see.

TARGET MARKET:

- Adult Community Members (21-40): Those who are interested in being connected with their community or those who want to explore more, whether for pleasure, work, or opportunities.
- Students (13-20): Those still in school interested in something fun that allows them to gain access to volunteering opportunities, hangout spots, classes, etc.
- Parents (Any Age): Parents who aren’t a part of the above groups but are still interested in exploring the outside for themselves or their children.

PROCESS:
User Onboarding: User manually inputs desired settings, demographic information, etc.

App Usage: User uses the app to explore and connect with their community.

Challenges/Games: The User may freely use game functionality to further drive curiosity.

Network: The User may establish real and physical connections with other like-minded individuals.

UNIQUE VALUE PROPOSITION:

- Locally Focused:

Connectify is deliberately community-centered, designed for those within smaller groups(neighborhoods, schools, etc.) to branch out and connect and their local areas, driving greater physical connection and reviving outdoor spaces. This makes a stronger community much easier to achieve, mutually benefiting everyone involved while simultaneously helping to relieve isolation-related mental health issues and long hours inside.

- Gamified Features

Connectify offers a very gamified exploration function, which gives users the ability to turn exploring outside into a very fun and much more engaging experience. It incentivizes not just the usage of our app but general exploration while providing a source of recreation to users, both furthering our goals while generating greater user hours. Simply put, this feature exists to let people have fun.

COMPETITIVE ADVANTAGE

- First Mover Advantage:

Connectify fills a niche that, before, was only partially touched on by several other services that only interacted with very specific aspects regarding general community engagement and local connections. Connectify offers to bridge this gap and encapsulate several services and engagement features, including maps, directions, recommendations, locally-limited event boards, user-friendly UI, and more. This gives us a great head start, limited possible competitors, and a possibility to gain brand recognition and customer trust - all essential factors for growth.
